Public Affairs Programs

In an ongoing effort to serve the public interest, KFOG and KFFG broadcast programming responsive to issues of concern to San Francisco and the surrounding service area. The following is a list of issues and of the stations' most significant programming treatment of them. Programs air from 5:00 - 6:00 AM each Sunday.

Every three months a list is developed of the programs that have provided the station's most significant treatment of community issues during the preceding three month period. The list for each calendar quarter is to be filed by the tenth day of the following calendar quarter. The list shall include a brief narrative describing the issues discussed, and should include, but is not limited to, the date, time, duration, and title of each program and subject matter.

Public Service Announcements

Radio Station KFOG honors its voluntary commitment to air a minimum of 3 Public Service Announcements per day giving exposure to local non-profit organizations, in all dayparts, plus numerous others in conjunction with charity events sponsored by the station.

Attached are affidavits showing actual times these announcements aired in the quarter reflected, and copies of the actual PSA's.

A Sunday with Judy Blume and Molly Ringwald

Judy Blume, Author

In conversation with Molly Ringwald, Actress, Sixteen Candles, The Breakfast Club, Pretty in Pink; Judy Blume Enthusiast

"My only advice is to stay aware, listen carefully, and yell for help if you need it." – Judy Blume

Judy Blume, called "the Queen of YA" by The Washington Post, releases her first novel for adults in 16 years, In the Unlikely Event, this June. Blume — prolific, controversial, beloved — is a literary iconoclast whose novels have been among the first to discuss teen sex, masturbation, menstruation and divorce. For three generations of pre-teen girls, Blume's books have answered the most intimate questions of love, loss, and growing up.

Blume's latest book, In the Unlikely Event, is based in the supernatural early 1950's, when three generations of New Jerseyans encounter a fateful string of airplane crashes. Judy Blume will discuss her latest book, her career spanning nearly five decades of writing, children empowerment, and her favorite stories about the young and young at heart.

Ken Walsh: Presidents and the Cult of Celebrity

Ken Walsh, Chief White House Correspondent, U.S. News & World Report; Author, Celebrity in Chief: A History of the Presidents

Joe Tuman, Professor of Legal and Political Communications, San Francisco State University - Moderator
Walsh joined the U.S. News & World Report in 1984 as a congressional correspondent and has covered presidential politics since 1986. Walsh is one of the longest-serving White House correspondents in history, having traveled to more than 70 countries and conducting numerous interviews with presidents Barack Obama, George W. Bush, Bill Clinton, George H. Bush and Ronald Reagan.

Walsh says, since the beginning of the Republic, presidents have needed to be celebrities and build on their fame. This fame has allowed them to get things done by propelling their agendas and rallying public support for themselves as national leaders. Come hear behind the scenes tales about the intersection of the presidency and pop culture.

Terry Gamble Boyer, Member, Board of Directors, Ploughshares Fund — Moderator

Part of The Club's Series on Ethics and Accountability, underwritten by the Travers Family Foundation

North Korea, Pakistan, Russia, China, Iran — concern over nuclear weapons continues to grab news headlines. Nine nations evidently possess nuclear weapons and at least a rudimentary means of delivering them. The War That Must Never Be Fought borrows its title from President Ronald Reagan's State of the Union message of 1984, in which he declared "a nuclear war cannot be won and must never be fought." Here's a rare chance to hear two distinguished American statesmen discuss a post-deterrence approach to defense in the 21st century and the possible pathways to a world without nuclear weapons, as well as their outlook on the general state of the world.

Christiana Figueres: The Road to Paris

Christiana Figueres, Executive Secretary, United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change

William K. Reilly, Senior Advisor, TPG

Can world leaders cut a climate deal when they meet in Paris in December? Chinese President Xi Jinping and President Barack Obama have energized the negotiations with their pact to grow the two biggest economies while cutting carbon pollution. Other countries are advancing their plans to do the same.

California is out front and upping its game. One big question is how fossil fuel companies flex their clout. What are the prospects for an agreement with teeth? Can any deal survive being dragged into the U.S. presidential election? A conversation about the politics of a global economic treaty.

Judge LaDoris H. Cordell (ret), Independent Police Auditor, City of San Jose - Moderator

A child is gunned down by a police officer; an investigator ignores critical clues in a case; an innocent man confesses to a crime he did not commit; a jury acquits a killer. Law professor Benforado says the evidence is all around us that our system of justice is fundamentally broken. But he argues that it's not for the reasons many people think. Even if the system operated exactly as it was designed to, we might still end up with wrongful convictions, trampled rights, and unequal treatment. He says this is because the roots of injustice lie not inside the dark hearts of racist police officers or dishonest prosecutors, but within the minds of each and every one of us. Benforado shines a light on this troubling new field of research, looking at evidence suggesting that people with certain facial features receive longer sentences and that judges are far more likely to grant parole first thing in the morning. He lays out the scope of the legal system's dysfunction and proposes practical reforms that could prevent injustice and help us achieve true fairness and equality before the law.

Peter Coyote: On Zen, Politics and an Amazing Life

Peter Coyote, Actor; Activist; Author, The Rainman's Third Cure: An Irregular Education

In conversation with Phil Bronstein, Executive Chairman of the Board, Center For Investigative Reporting
Part of The Club's Good Lit Series, Underwritten by the Bernard Osher Foundation

Coyote's new spiritual biography details a life that has taken him from privileged halls of power to Greenwich Village jazz bars, to jail, to the White House, to government service, and finally to international success on stage and screen. He describes the wide range of mentors who shaped him—a violent, intimidating father; a bebop bass player who taught him that life can be improvised; a Mafia consigliere who demonstrated to him that men can be bought and manipulated; a gay dancer in Martha Graham's company who enlightened him about Mexico and marijuana; and Pulitzer Prize-winning poet Gary Snyder, who introduced him to Zen practice. Through Zen, Coyote says he discovered an alternative to status seeking and material wealth. Come hear first-hand his amazing journey and its lessons for all of us.

David Gergen with Dan Ashley: A Rational Look at Irrational Politics

David Gergen, CNN Senior Political Analyst; Professor and Co-Director, Center for Public Leadership, Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government

Dan Ashley, News Anchor, ABC7; Member, Commonwealth Club Board of Governors -Moderator

Few people have the depth and breadth of David Gergen, who, for decades, has served as both political analyst and advisor to presidents, including Nixon, Ford, Reagan and Clinton. Starting with the McNeil-Lehrer "NewsHour" in 1984, he has been a regular commentator on public affairs for some 28 years. Twice he has been a member of election coverage teams that won Peabody awards, and he has contributed to two Emmy award-winning political analysis teams.

Mr. Gergen's work as co-director of the Center for Public Leadership at the Kennedy School has enabled him to work closely with a rising generation of younger leaders, especially social entrepreneurs, military veterans and Young Global Leaders. A native of North Carolina, he is a member of the D.C. Bar, a veteran of the U.S. Navy and a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. He is an honors graduate of Yale and the Harvard Law School. In an era of political gridlock and at the outset of the next presidential campaign season, hear from one of America's most respected political observers.

A Debate on Treating Mental Illness: Should We Bring Back Asylums?

Dominic Sisti, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Medical Ethics/Health Policy and Psychiatry, University of Pennsylvania; Principal Author, "Improving Long-term Psychiatric Care: Bring Back the Asylum," Journal of the American Medical Association

Renee Binder, M.D., Psychiatrist, University of California, San Francisco; Incoming President, American

Psychiatric Association

Dr. Gloria Duffy, President and CEO, The Commonwealth Club — Moderator

Approximately 10 million Americans suffer from serious mental illness. Over the past 60 years, various social, political and economic forces have resulted in the closing of publicly funded psychiatric institutions in favor of community treatment, in which outpatient options and the ability to live independently seemed promising and in many cases less expensive than inpatient care.

Should severely mentally ill people be integrated within the community? Or should asylums be revisited? How would individuals come to be placed in such asylums? What civil rights issues come into play? How would such institutions be funded? Who would staff them and how would training and management ensure humane care? How could modern psychopharmacology and neuromedicine be applied? How could such institutions be structured to perhaps have different levels of institutionalization, from semi-independent living to more comprehensive care? How could they be made into places where people want to be, because their lives would be better than on their own?

Critics such as Dr. Dominic Sisti, principal author of a new report from The University of Pennsylvania, argue that comprehensive, accessible and fully integrated community-based mental health care continues to be an unmet promise. Dr. Sisti's report further argues that deinstitutionalization has really been "transinstitutionalization," resulting in a vicious cycle whereby mentally ill patients move between crisis hospitalization, homelessness and incarceration. Most disturbing, the report argues, U.S. jails and prisons have become the nation's largest mental health-care facilities. The report cites recent studies that show that prisoners with a serious mental illness are two to three times more likely than prisoners without serious mental illness to be reincarcerated, that half of all inmates have a mental illness or substance abuse disorder, and that 15 percent of state inmates are diagnosed with a psychotic disorder.

Dr. Sisti says that new models of fully integrated, patient-centered long-term psychiatric care now exist in the United States and that such facilities are needed to provide 21st-century care to patients with chronic, serious mental illness.

Advocates for community treatment, such as Dr. Renee Binder, president of the American Psychiatric Association, argue that the answer to better treatment lies not in the fact that asylums have been closed but that they have not been replaced with adequate funding.

Join an important discussion about one of the most pressing issues impacting society at large.

Hank Paulson: Dealing with China

Hank Paulson, Former U.S. Secretary of the Treasury; Author, Dealing with China: An Insider Unmasks the New Economic Superpower

For decades Hank Paulson has enjoyed rare access to the highest levels of China's ruling elite. As head of Goldman Sachs, Paulson was pivotal in opening up China to private enterprise. As Treasury secretary, he encouraged trade with the newly emerging economic powerhouse and safeguarded the teetering U.S. financial system. He created the Strategic Economic Dialogue with what is now the world's second-largest economy. He also is co-chair of Risky Business, a project that quantifies and publicizes the economic risks from a changing climate.

Join us for a conversation with one of America's top deal makers about dealing with an economic superpower.

Gary Hart: The Republic on Conscience

Gary Hart, U.S. Special Envoy for Northern Ireland; Former U.S. Senator; Author, The Republic of Conscience

Joe Tuman, Professor of Legal and Political Communications, San Francisco State University

Former Senator Gary Hart will discuss the growing gap between the founding principles of the United States Constitution and our current political landscape. Going back as early as 400 BC, the idea of a true republic has been threatened by narrow, special interests taking precedence over the commonwealth. The United States Constitution was drafted to protect against such corruption, but Hart says America is nowhere near the republic it set out to be. He tackles major American institutions – the military, the CIA, Congress – and outlines how these establishments may have led the country away from its founding principles, not closer to them.

U.C. President Janet Napolitano Interviews Charlotte Jacobs, M.D.

The Legacy of Jonas Salk

Janet Napolitano, President of University of California; Former Secretary of Homeland Security; Former Governor of Arizona

Charlotte Jacobs, M.D. Professor of Medicine (Emerita), Stanford University; Author, Jonas Salk: A Life Part of the Club's Good Lit Series, Underwritten by the Bernard Osher Foundation

Sixty years ago, physician-researcher Jonas Salk changed human history by inventing the polio vaccine. His work has saved countless lives and helped shaped the medical field as we know it today. Recently, Dr. Charlotte Jacobs has published the first comprehensive biography, Jonas Salk: A Life. She and Janet Napolitano will sit down and discuss her book that explores Jonas Salk's life and legacy. The first in a limited series of interviews, Napolitano talks with Jacobs and uses the biography as the centerpiece for discussion about the best practices of vaccinations, preventing pandemics and saving lives.

Dr. Ben Carson: Republican Presidential Candidate

Ben Carson, M.D., Republican Presidential Candidate

In conversation with Dan Ashley, Member, Commonwealth Club Board of Governors; News Anchor, ABC 7 Television News, San Francisco

Following the first Republican presidential debate, Dr. Ben Carson has continued to rank highly in the polls. He advocates a flat tax and the replacement of the Affordable Care Act with health savings accounts, is opposed to the Iran agreement, says the climate change debate is "irrelevant" and that there should not be federally determined standards for education. Dr. Carson is also a pioneering neurosurgeon who performed the first successful separation of twins joined at the back of the head. He has been awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom and holds degrees from Yale and the University of Michigan Medical School. Bring your questions for one of the country's leading conservative voices.
